STRICT QUALITY SELECTION

Compliance with strict selection criteria and test methods ensures a consistently high level of quality and only the best slate deposits comply with our strict requirements.

By constantly checking the production processes at our quarries and mills, we take care of the observance of the quality criteria. At the same time, we are supported by independent testing institutions.

- Best slate only from tested deposits.
- Continuous check of the rock quality.
- Constant supervision of the production processes.
- Strict selection of the finished roofing slate.
- Conform to ASTM C 406 Grade S1

QUARRY PROGRESSION

In our quarries highly modern mining techniques are used. The Black Slate is not only mined underground in the large mine but also in above ground quarries.

The fully mechanical sawing extraction makes work easier for the miners above and below ground and contributes to careful handling of the precious rock.

The recent technical progression in quarrying procedures facilitates an efficient mining process that allows for a more affordable material – to the delight of many building owners and customers.
